OPEN  ACCESS

Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased introduce the June 2026 issue of The New Journal of Urology (Volume 21, Issue 2). This issue features five original articles, two case reports, and a narrative review covering key topics across functional urology, endourology, andrology, and uro-oncology.

Our original research section opens with a randomized controlled trial comparing supervised versus video-assisted pelvic floor muscle training combined with tolterodine for urge incontinence. Another study provides a detailed overview of Turkish urology residency theses between 2015 and 2020, tracking their long-term academic outcomes.

In endourology, authors examine volumetric predictors of stone-free status after mini-PCNL, while a separate clinical study evaluates the safety and efficacy of same-session surgery for bilateral ureteral stones. Additionally, this issue includes research on the relationship between lower urinary tract symptoms (LUTS), disability, and physical activity levels in women with hip osteoarthritis.

The case reports in this issue address rare and complex clinical scenarios: a case of high-grade urothelial carcinoma with sarcomatoid differentiation presenting as colonic metastasis, and a case examining genital self-mutilation and regret in gender dysphoria. Also, this issue includes a narrative review that examines how paternal selective serotonin reuptake inhibitor (SSRI) use impacts male fertility and pregnancy outcomes.

The New Journal of Urology has been indexed in the TÜBİTAK ULAKBİM TR Index since 2011. Our journal is also available across major databases, including DOAJ, Google Scholar, Turkish Medline, Turkish Citation Index, SOBIAD, Scilit, Ideal Online Database, J-GATE, and EBSCO, utilizing the CrossRef DOI and ORCID systems for all publications.

We are grateful to the authors for their valuable scientific contributions and to our reviewers for their thorough evaluation of these manuscripts. We invite you to read this new issue, submit your latest research to our journal, and contribute to the peer-review process.

Best regards,

Editor-in-Chief
